

Return & Refund Policy

Last updated: January 2026

We sell two kinds of things: event tickets and marketing/event-management services. Because a ticket and a monthly retainer are very different products, this policy covers each separately. As we do not sell or ship any physical goods, there is no "return" in the traditional sense — everything below concerns refunds and cancellations.

1. Scope of This Policy

This Return & Refund Policy applies to all purchases made through FaisalabadTimes.co, including event ticket purchases and paid marketing/promotion packages booked via our "Book a Meeting" process. It should be read alongside our Terms & Conditions.

2. Event Ticket Refunds

Tickets are issued by the relevant event organizer, and refund eligibility for a specific event is set out on that event's listing page. Unless the listing states otherwise:

- Tickets are non-refundable once purchased, except in the situations described in Section 3.
- We are unable to offer refunds for a change of mind, unused tickets, or missed events.
- Tickets cannot be exchanged for a different date, category, or event once issued.
- Duplicate or accidental purchases can be reported for review within 48 hours of purchase.

3. Event Cancellations & Rescheduling

- If an event is cancelled — you will be offered a refund of 60% of the ticket price. The remaining amount, along with any booking or service fee shown separately at checkout, is non-refundable, as it covers costs already incurred in processing the sale and preparing the event.
- If an event is rescheduled — your ticket stays valid for the new date automatically. If the new date does not work for you, you can request a refund within 7 days of the reschedule being announced.
- If an event is materially changed (venue, headline act, or format) — you may request a refund within the same 7-day window.

We will notify affected ticket-holders by email as soon as we are aware of a cancellation or material change.

4. Marketing & Service Packages

For paid services — social media management, paid advertising, FT Page promotion, event promotion, brand collaborations, and similar retainer or project-based work — refunds work differently from tickets, since these are ongoing services rather than a single deliverable:

- Before work begins — if you cancel before we have started any work on your package, you are entitled to a full refund.

- Once work has started — you will be refunded for any unused portion of a pre-paid period, minus the value of work already delivered (content created, campaigns launched, posts published, ad spend already committed on your behalf).
- Monthly retainers — cancelling a monthly package stops future billing; the current paid month is generally not refunded once work for that month has begun, unless we failed to deliver the agreed scope.
- Ad spend — amounts already spent with third-party ad platforms (Meta, Google, etc.) on your behalf are non-refundable once the campaign has gone live.

5. Non-Refundable Items

- Booking or service fees charged at checkout.
- Tickets for events that took place as scheduled.
- Work, content, or ad spend already delivered under a service package.
- Purchases affected by factors outside our control once the relevant service or event has been substantially delivered.

6. How to Request a Refund

Email hello@FaisalabadTimes.co.com or message us on WhatsApp (+92 300 123 4567) with your order reference, the event or service in question, and the reason for your request. We will confirm receipt and let you know the outcome, typically within 3–5 business days.

7. Refund Processing Time

Approved refunds are issued back to your original payment method through our payment processor and can take up to 14 days from approval to appear on your statement, depending on your bank or card issuer.

8. Contact Us

Questions about a refund can be sent to hello@FaisalabadTimes.co.com.